ISIDORE, St., surnamed Pelusiota, or, Damietta, the most celebrated of the disciples of John Chrysostom, flourished in the 5th century;

and died about the year 410. Of his writings there are extant 2012 Letters in five books, written in good Greek, and in an agreeable elegant style. The following are the principal editions,—Epistolarum libri iii. a Jac. Billio, Gr. et Lat. Par. 1585, fol. Editio princeps.—Epist. libri iv. a Conr. Rittershusio, Gr. et Lat. Heidelb. 1605, fol.—Liber quintus Epistolarum, (quæ in editionibus Billii et Rittershusii desiderantur), Gr. Lat. cum Notis per p And. Schottum. Franc. 1620.—Epist. lib. v. ab And. Schotto, Gr. Lat. Par. 1638, fol. The best edition.—Isidorianæ Collationes, viz. ejus Epistolarum, cum MSS., collatio. Rom. 1670, 8vo.

ISIDORE, or Isolanis, a Dominican Friar of Milan, remarkable for his singularity of opinions on the subjects on which he wrote.—De Imperio Militantis Ecclesiæ, libri iv. necnon Modus Vivendi Imperii Milit. Eccles. Mediol. 1517. fol. cum fig.—Disputationum Catholicarum libri v. in quibus i. De Igne Inferni. ii. De Purgatorio. iii. De Merito Animarum Purgatorii et Cognitionis propriæ Beatitudinis futuræ. iv. De Disputatione dantis et recipientis Indulgentias. v. De Modo Remissionis factæ per q Indulgentias. Mediol, 1517, fol. The curious and bold opinions which this work contains, causes it to be eagerly sought after.—De Regum Principumque Institutis. Mediol. without date, but about 1517, sm. fol. Rare.—Tractatus de Nova Mundi Mutatione; item, de Aurea Mensa Solis, Oratio. Bonon. 1523, 4to.

ISIDORUS, Sr., of Seville, was born at Carthagena, in Spain, about the beginning of the 7th century; died 636. He left several useful Works regarding the Church in his own days. Editions of these works were printed very early in the art of printing. Etymologiarum, libri xx. Without name of printer, place, or date, fol. This is a magnificent impression, sometimes, r if not always, found along with Bartholomæus de Proprietatibus Rerum, published about the same time, and printed in the same character. According to Dibdin, this is of the press of Ulric Zell; it is printed in double columns, in a small Gothic or Semi-Gothic character. In the 3d book of this work, several mathematical figures are introduced.—Etymologiarum, libri xx. Printed by Gunther Zainer, Augsburg, 1472, fol. This edition contains several apparent improvements made from the former edition, from which the preceding has been principally adjudged prior in point of time. In this volume is introduced the first specimen of the Roman character in Germany. This is in all appearance an exact reprint of the preceding. s Etymologiarum, libri xx. Supposed to have been printed by Mentelin, at Strasbourg, about 1473, fol. The type of this Work is between the Roman and the Gothic: remarkable for the stoutness of the paper, and brilliancy of the ink. This, as well as the other editions of this Author about this period, is extremely rare. Etymologiarum, lib. xx. Venet. Pet. de Coslein, 1485, fol. Et cum variis Lectionibus. Paris. 1795. Origines, seu Etymologiæ, cum Scholiis Bon. Vulcanii. Basil. 1577, fol. Chronologia ex Libro Originum 5. et 6. decerpta. Basil. 1577, 8vo. Etymol. Connected with the Auctores Ling. Lat. à Gothfrido. Gen. 1585, 1602, 1622, 4to. Reprinted more accurately at the end of Martinius' Lexicon Philot logicum, 1697, fol. Originum et Etymologiarum, libri xx. 1633.—Contra Judæos, sine ulla Nota. 4to. Printed in the Roman character, and supposed to have been executed about 1470. Contra Jud. Acced. Narrationes duæ Josephi et Epistola Pilati de Christo, sine Nota. 4to. An ancient impression, supposed to be at Rome.—De Summo Bono, sine ulla Nota. 4to. This is printed with the types of Ulric Zell, of Cologne. De Sum. Bon. Norimb. without date, but adjudged to be about 1470. One of the first, if not the first Work, printed with the types of Henry Rumel. De Sum. Bon. 8vo. Without place, date, or printer's name: evidently a Work of the 15th century. De Sum. Bon. Lovanii, Jo. de Westphalia, 1486, u 4to. De Sum. Bon. per J. Aleaume. Paris. 1588, 8vo.—De Responsione Mundi et Astrorum Ordinatione. Aug. Zeiner, 1472, fol. Cum figuris Xylographicis. Printed in the Italian character: it is the first book with a date which is illustrated with cuts.—De Temporibus. Without date, place, or printer's name, 4to. This has the appearance of being from the press of Phil. de Lignamine, about 1473. The character is the Roman. De Temp. Without place, date, or printer's name, 4to. Evidently the Gothic character, as used by Stephen Planck, and must therefore have been published sometime between 1479 and 1499, at Rome.—Sinonyma, seu Soliloquia de Homine et Ratione, sine ulla Nota. 4to. The types of Rumel v of Norimberg. Syn., &c. Antw. 1487, 4to. Reprinted, cum Colloquiis Peccatoris et Jesu Christi, 1487, at Antwerp.—An edition of the Missal. 1500, fol.—An edition of the Breviary. 1502, fol. Printed at the request of Cardinal Ximenes: exceeding scarce. A Treatise on this Liturgy was afterwards printed at Rome, 1740, fol.—De Vita et Obitu Sanctorum utriusque Testamenti; item Allegoriæ quædam ex utroque Test. decerptæ, una cum libro Præmiorum. Haganoæ, 1529, 4to. Reprinted, p. 587. inter Monum. SS. Patrum Orthodox. edit. à Jac. Grynæo. Basil. 1569.—De Ortu et Obitu Prophetarum. 4to. Without date, place, or printer's name, but evidently a production of the beginning of the 16th century.—De Officiis w Ecclesiasticis, libri ii. Antwerp, 1534, 8vo. Col. 1568. Reprinted with the Patres, and several other Works of a similar description. This Work contains some very important information on church discipline, and mentions seven Prayers of the Sacrifice, which are still to be found in the Mosarabic Mass, or Spanish Liturgy, which our Author had a principal hand in.—De Scriptoribus Ecclesiasticis, cum Notis Sutfridi Petri. ISLA, Joseph Francis de l', was a Spanish Jesuit, who, on the sup- a pression of his Order, went to Italy, and settled at Bologna, where he died, 1783. He is known chiefly as the Author of,—The History of the famous Preacher Frier Gerund de Campazas, otherwise Gerund Zotes. Of this Work the first vol. of the original Spanish was published at Madrid, 1758, under the assumed name of Francis Lobon de Salazer; but when the Author had a second volume ready, he found it impossible to print it in Spain, and presented the copy to Baretti, by whose means both vols. were printed in English. Lond. 1771, 8vo. The Work is written after the manner of the inimitable Cervantes, with a view to correct the abuses of the Spanish pulpit.

JENSON, or, Jansonius, Nicolas, an ancient Printer and Letter-founder of high celebrity, was a native of France, but exercised the typographic art at Venice, from 1470 to 1480, about the latter of which years he is supposed to have died. The Art of Printing is greatly indebted to Jenson for some of its most essential improvements: it was he who first determined the form and proportion of the present Roman character; and his editions z are still sought, on account of the neatness and beauty of his types. The number of Works executed by him is very considerable; among them the following may be noticed.—Ciceronis, Epistolæ ad Atticum, ad Brutum, et ad Quintum Fratrem. Ven. 1470, fol. This is considered by Mr. Dibdin as being probably the first production of Jenson's press.—Eusebii, Præparatio Evangelica, Lat. Ven. 1470, fol. Editio princeps. This, according to Sardini's arrangement, is the first book printed by Jenson.—Johannis Baptistæ Guarini, Veronensis Regulæ Grammaticales. 1470, 4to. Santander thinks this volume is Jenson's first typographical attempt.—Ciceronis Rhetorica, lib. iv. et de Inventione, lib. ii. Ven. 1470, fol. Editio a princeps.—Justini Histor. Ven. 1470, 4to. Editio princeps.—Decor Puellarum, seu Honore de Le Donzelie. Ven. 1461, 4to. This is the celebrated impression, the date of which has, for upwards of half a century, excited so much controversy among Bibliographers. The title bears the date 1461, and its genuineness has been zealously advocated by some, while others have with equal earnestness laboured to overthrow it. The most forcible objections against the legitimacy of the date of 1461 are, the complete inactivity of Jenson's press, from that period to the year 1470, and the moral impossibility that he could have printed the Decor Puellarum at Venice in 1461, since he was not sent to Mentz to learn the Art of Printing b till 1462; the date, therefore, of 1461, must evidently be an error for 1471. —Luctor Christianorum. q JEROME, or Hieronymus, St., a very distinguished Father of the Church, was born of Christian parents, at Stridon, on the confines of Pannonia and Dalmatia, in the year 331; died 422. The writings of Jerome, however declamatory and abusive, are allowed to be the most useful of all the primitive Fathers: many editions of them, especially his epistles, were executed about the infancy of printing, and are of great beauty, rarity, and value.——EPIST.—Epistolare. Without date, &c. fol. This edition is very little known: it contains 140 genuine letters, besides some suspected ones. The types appear to be those of John Mentell, an ancient printer at Strasburgh. It is supposed to be prior to the following.—Tractatus et r Epistolæ. Rom. ap. Sweynheym et Pannartz. 1468, 2 vol. fol. printed in the usual style of magnificence of the earliest Roman press.—Epist. Mogunt. ap. Pet. Schoeffer, 1470, fol.—Epist. ex recognitione Aleriensis Episcopi. Rom. ap. Sweyn. et Pannartz, 1470, 2 vols. fol.—Epist. Without place, name of printer, or date, 2 vols. fol. There is much contrariety of opinion respecting the printer of this edition; and it has given rise to some little smartness of controversy among Bibliographers. It happens that at the termination of the second volume, there are the following words, JA. RV. which some consider as intending to designate Jacobus Rvbens, though a few attribute it to Ulric Han, and others are of opinion that Sixtus Reus singer is the Printer. Mr. Dibdin seems to favour the latter of these opinions.—Epistola ad Paulinum, et Augustinus de Fuga Mulierum. Without date, but apparently done with the types of Ulric Zell, about 1470, 4to.—Epist. Ven. ap. Ant. Bartholomæi, 1476, 2 vols. fol.—Epist. Rom. ap. Pannartz, 1476, 2 vols. fol.—Tractatus varii et Epistolæ vol. prim. Rom. ap. Pannartz, 1476, fol. Et vol. secund. Rom. ap. Georgius Laur de Herbipoli, 1479, fol. As Pannartz died before this work was completed, Laur finished it on the same plan, and with the same types. The two volumes are rarely to be found together.—Epist. Bas. ap. Nic. Kester, 1480, et 1489, fol.—Epist. Parm. without the printer's name. 1480, 2 vols. t fol.—Epist. Ven. ap. Hieronymo, Latinitate donatum, emendatum et auctum. A Bonino Mombritio. Mediol. ap. Phil. de Lavagnia. Without date, u but probably printed about 1469, fol. This is the first edition, and is of such extreme scarcity, that its existence has been doubted by several. Eusebius ends his Chronicon A. D. 328; St. Jerome's Continuation extends to 390; that of St. Prosper to 443; and Matth. Palmer, of Florence, brought it down to 1448.—Chron. &c. a Lucilio Hippodamo Helbronensi. Ven. ap. Erhard Ratdolt, 1483, 4to. The text of this edition is very incorrect.—Chron. a Henr. Steph. 1512, 4to. Contains the continuation of Johannes Multivallis.—Chron. Bas. ap. Henr. JOSEPH, or Josiffon, Ben Gorian, is supposed to have been a Jew of Languedoc, and to have lived about the end of the 9th century. The following History goes under his name, which is most likely a fabrication. It pretends to have been written just after the destruction of Jerusalem, and by a person who was present at the siege; but it is obvious from internal evidence, that it could not have been written earlier than the ninth century. The Work is of no repute, and seems to have been extracted chiefly from Josephus.—Historia Judaica, Heb. Without place or date, fol. JOSEPHUS, Flavius, the celebrated Historian of the Jews, was born at Jerusalem, about the year 37; the time of his death is unknown. His Histories have been much admired, and the more so as he was an eye-witness of all he wrote. The Latin translations of them are very numerous, and some were printed more than half a century before the original Greek.—ANT. JUD. Antiquitates et Bellum Judaicum. v valuable production.—Opera, Græcè et Latinè, ex versione Sig. Gelenii. Aur. Allobr. 1611, fol. This excellent edition was miserably reprinted at Geneva, 1635, fol.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. à Thom. Ittigio. Colon. sumptibus Weidmanni, 1691, fol. A work of great intrinsic merit, but badly printed on bad paper. To this edition are annexed, Aristeas' History of the Septuagint, Gr. et Lat. by Gabritius; History of the Maccabees, &c., with various Readings, Notes, &c. and a good Index.—Opera, de la Reviere, Gr. Lat. Aur. Allob. 1591, fol. This edition was reprinted at Geneva, 1611 and 1635, fol. It is a production of no mean performance, although it falls far short of what it promised. The reprint of 1635 is miserably bad, both w in typography and accuracy.—Opera, Bernardi, Gr. Lat. Oxon. 1691, fol. vol. i.; no more was published. It only contains the four first books and part of the fifth, executed in a very superior style. Since reprinted, 1700.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum MSS. collat. nova Versione, et Notis Joannis Hudsonis. JUSTIN, the Philosopher, commonly called Justin Martyr, one of the earliest Writers of the Christian Church, was born at Neapolis, the ancient Sichem of Palestine, in the Province of Samaria; suffered martyrdom about the year 165. The Works of Justin are written in a pure, plain style, and abound with very valuable accounts of the Practices of the Primitive Christians; and Quotations, both from sacred and profane Writers.—Epistola ad Diogneticum, et Oratio ad Græcos, Gr. et Lat. ap. Henr. Steph. 1571, 4to.—

JUSTIN, an ancient Latin Historian, who flourished under Antoninus Pius, about A. D. 150. He abridged the vast History of Trogus Pompeius, which was found so superior to the original that it soon superseded the necessity, and finally occasioned the loss of that voluminous work. The abridgment comprises a history of the world from Ninus, the founder of the Assyrian empire, about A. M. 2000, to the reign of Augustus. Excepting some few barbarisms, and absurd tales, it is written with great purity o and elegance.——HISTORIA.—Brit. Edit. Justini ex Trogi Pompeii Historia, libri xliiii. supra plurimorum editiones doctorum hominum opera castigatissima. This is also a rare and valuable edition, although the typographical execution is not very beautiful. There is some difference about the date of this production. Some place it prior to the preceding, but it is more probable that it is the second impression of Justin.—Hist. ex recens. Joan. And. Episc. Aler. Rom. ap. Sweyn. et Pannartz, 1472, fol. JUSTINIAN, a Roman Emperor, distinguished for his Code of Laws, who reigned from A. D. 527 to 565; in which year he died at the age of 83. The Code, to which the Emperor gave his own name, and which may be called the Statute Law, was compiled out of the Gregorian, Theodosian, and Hermogenian codes, by ten of the most able Lawyers in the empire. This, with the compilation of another part, made up of the decisions of the judges, and other magistrates, lay scattered in above 2000 volumes, until they were, in the year 533, reduced to the number of 50, chiefly by Tribo-
y nian, an eminent Lawyer, and the name of Digests or Pandects given to them. Besides these, Justinian ordered four books of Institutes to be drawn up by Tribonian, Dorotheus, and Theophilus, containing an abridgement of the text of all the laws; and, lastly, the laws of modern date, posterior to that of the former, were thrown into one volume, in the year 541, called the New Code.——Institut.—The Institutes of Justinian have gone through innumerable editions. The following list contains only those editions which are valuable, either on account of their antiquity, or illustrations. Institionum libri v. Mogunt. ap. Petr. Schœffer, 1468, fol. Editio princeps. This volume is peculiarly interesting, not only on account of its z beauty of execution, and the rarity of its occurrence, but as also containing one of the few printed documents, which strengthens the hypothesis, that John Guttenberg was the Inventor of the Art of Printing.—Institut. Argent. ap. Hen. Eggestein, 1472, fol.—Institut. Mogunt. ap. Petr. Schœffer, 1472, fol.—Institut. Mogunt. ap. P. Schœffer, 1475. Et cum Glossis. 1476, fol.—Institut. a Carlo de Alexandris de Perusio. JUSTINIANI, Augustin, Bishop of Nebo, or Nebbio, one of the most learned men of his time, born at Genoa, 1470; was wrecked at sea, c 1536. He composed,—Psalterium Hebræum, Græcum, Arabicum, et Chaldæum, cum tribus Latinis Interpretationibus et Glossis. This was the first Psalter of the kind which had appeared in print, and he intended it as a prelude to a similar edition of the whole Bible, but he lived only to execute this part. Genoa, 1516. It is not a work of very rare occurrence.—Annales de Republica Genoensi. Genoa, 1537. Posthumous and imperfect.—There is likewise ascribed to him, a Translation of Maimonidis, Moreh Nevochim.—He was also the Editor of Porcheti Victoria adversus Impios Hebræos. Paris. 1520, fol.

JUSTINIANI, Bened.—In Pauli Epistolas, Explanat. Lugd. 1612, d 2 tom. fol.

JUSTINIANI, Abbe Bernardo, a branch of the same family as the following: he wrote,—The Origin of the Military Orders. In Italian. Venice, 1692, 2 vols. fol. The same book from whence the "History of the Military Orders," printed at Amst. 1721, 4 vols. 4to. has been extracted. To which is added, the History of the Religious Orders. Amst. 1716, 4 vols. 8vo.

JUSTINIANI, Bernard, Nephew of the following, born at Venice, 1408; died 1489.—His Speeches on different occasions have been printed, with his Letters, and History of Venice. Ven. 1492, fol. This, which has been admired as the first regular attempt of the kind, comes down to c 809.—He also left, Vita B. Laurentii Justiniani. 1476, 4to.—His Life, in Latin, by Antonio Stella, was printed at Ven. 1533, 8vo.

JUSTINIANI, St. Laurence, the first Patriarch of Venice, where he was born, 1381; died 1455.—He left several works of Piety, which were printed together at Brescia, 1506, 2 vols. fol; and Ven. 1755, fol. To which is prefixed, his Life, by his Nephew.

JUVENAL, Decius Junius, the Roman Satirist, was born at Aquinum, a town in Campania, about the beginning of the Emperor Claudius' reign; died about A. D. 128. Of his Satires there are only sixteen remaining, in which he displays great wit, energy, and acute observation, although often mixed with a sufficiency of ill-nature and obscenity of language.—SATYRÆ. Satyr. Rom. ap. Uld. Gallus, without date, 4to. Editio princeps.
g Supposed to have been printed before 1470.—Satyr. Without place or name of printer, 1470. This has been called by some the editio princeps, but the preceding is evidently anterior to it.—Satyr. Montereg. 1473, fol. Annexed to this edition is one of the works of Ovid.—Satyr. Ven. ap. Jacobus de Fivizano, without date, 4to. This has been placed by some as a production of the year 1473, while others think it must have been executed after 1477. It is a most rare and singular edition.—Satyr. cum Comment. Domit. Calderini. Ven. 1475, fol. This rare edition is valuable, as containing, for the first time, the Commentaries of Domitius Calderinus. It is singular that the text of Juvenal is dated 1475, and that of the Commentary
h 1474: it is therefore probable that the original edition of Calderinus appeared without the text of the poet, in 1474.—Satyr. Without date or name of printer, but supposed to have been executed by Christ. Valdarfer, about 1476, 4to.—Satyr. cum Georgii Merulæ Comment. Travis. ap. Barth. de Confaloneriis. 1478, fol.—Satyr. i Commentario Georgii Vallæ. Ven. ap. A. de Strata, 1486, fol. This is the first and only impression of Juvenal in the 15th century, that contains the Commentary of Geo. Valla.—Satyr. Par. ap. G. Wolf. et Thielman. Kerver, 1498, 4to. This is one of the most beautiful volumes of the early Parisian press.—Satyr. cum Comment. Joan. Britannici. Ven. ap. Jo. j venal, Henninius stands high in the literary world, and this edition has always been in much repute.—Satyr. à Rupert. Lips. 1801, 2 vols. 8vo. A valuable and elaborate edition, which contains more information of Juvenal, &c. than any other edition extant.—Eng. Trans. l lated into English verse, by the Rev. Wm. Heath Marsh, A. M. Lond. 1804, 8vo. A translation of considerable merit.—SAT. JUV. ET PERS. The Satires of Juvenal and Persius are generally printed together, and the conjoined editions of these Satirists are very numerous; of which the most valuable are,—Satyræ. Rom. ap. Uldar. Gallus, without date, but about 1469, fol. The editio princeps of these two writers united.—Satyræ. Bresc. without date, fol. This elegant work is perhaps the earliest production of the Brescia press, and is rarer than any impression of Juvenal and Persius.—Sat. Without date, 4to. An ancient edition, printed in the Roman character.—Sat. Without date, place, or
m name of printer, fol. This, which is frequently styled the editio princeps, was evidently printed at Venice, and probably with the types of Vindelin de Spira, in 1470. There was a reprint of the same, also without date; in which the only difference is, that the contractions are less numerous.—Sat. Without date, place, or name of printer, fol. From the rude, singular, and strange appearance of the type of this impression, it may probably be anterior to some of the preceding, but nothing can be advanced with certainty respecting this volume: it is even almost impossible to determine with accuracy the places and periods of the printing of the editions previously mentioned; to such conjectures and discussions, among bibliographers, has the n want of dates in the works of the early printers given birth. There still remains to notice another edition, the date of which must also rest upon a supposition; namely, an impression in folio, that is supposed to have been executed by George Laver, who printed at Rome, from 1470 to 1481.—Sat. à Petr. Villa. Brix. 1473, fol. A very scarce edition.—Sat. Ferrar. ap. Andr. Gallus, 1474, 4to.—Sat. Mediol. ap. Zarotus, 1474, 1479, et 1481, fol.—Sat. cum Comment. Domitii Calderini. Lovan. ap. Britannicum, 1486, fol.—Sat. cum o Comment. Varior. Ven. ap. Simon Bevilacqua, sine anno, fol.—Sat. Ven. ap. Ald. 1501 et 1535, 8vo. Of this excellent edition there were two impressions of the date of 1501, composed from different MSS. There was also an edition, without date, printed at Lyons, which is a counterfeit of the Aldine.—Sat. cum Comment. Joan. Britannici. Brix. 1501, fol.—Sat. à Mariano Tuccio. Florent. ap. Junta, 1507, 1513, et 1519, 8vo.—Sat. cum Notis Politiani, Beroaldi, et Egnatii. Mediol. 1514, fol.—Sat. à Knoblouch. Ven. 1518, 4to.—Sat. Par. ap. Rob. Steph. 1527 et 1544, 8vo.—Sat. Par. ap. A beautiful edition, with numerous plates from antique gems, &c.—Sat. Gotting. 1769, 12mo.—Sat. sine Notis. Norimb. 1780. Et ex recens. Is. Casauboni. Manheim, 1781, 12mo.—
t Satyræ Expurgatæ. Lond. 1784, 8vo. The editor of this volume is Mr. Knox, and it contains, besides the Text and Notes, the Lives of Juvenal and Persius, Brewster's admirable translation of Persius, and Dr. Johnson's spirited imitations of the third and tenth Satire of Juvenal.—Sat. Bipont. 1785, 8vo. A neat and useful edition.—The editions of the English versions of Juvenal and Persius connected, are as follow: Juvenal and Persius. Translated, and illustrated with sculptures and Notes. Oxf. 1673, fol. and 8vo. Almost a literal translation.—The Satires of Decimus Junius Juvenalis. Translated into English verse, by Mr. Dryden, and several other eminent hands; together with the Satires of Aulus Persius Flaccus, u made English, by Mr. Dryden, with explanatory Notes. Lond. 1693, fol. Reprinted, Lond. 1697, 1702, 1711, 1713, 1718, 1726, 1735, 1753, 1754, 12mo. This performance has been long and deservedly esteemed: the 1st, 3d, 6th, 10th, and 16th Satires were the work of Dryden.—The Satires of Juvenal. Translated into English verse; with a correct copy of the original Latin on the opposite page, cleared of all the exceptionable passages, and illustrated with Notes. Also Dr. Brewster's Persius, with the original on the opposite page, &c., by E. Owen, M. A. Lond. 1785, 2 vols. 12mo. A respectable work.—A new and literal Translation of Juvenal and Persius; with copious and explanatory Notes, by the Rev. M. Madan. Lond. 1784, 1789, 2 vols. 8vo. A very useful version.

KEMPIS, Thomas à, one of the most pious and exemplary Canons u of the 15th century, was born in Kemp, a village in the diocese of Cologne, 1380; entered the Monastery of Regular Canons of Mount St. Agnes, near Zwol, in 1399; died 1471. The celebrated book on the imitation of Jesus Christ has been generally ascribed to him, although some have attributed it to John Gerson, under which name several of the editions were published. Whoever the Author was there is no distinct proof, but it is more probable to be the production of Kempis than of Gerson, a person whose existence has been called in question.——DE IMIT. x KNOX, John, the illustrious and intrepid Scottish Reformer, was born at Gifford, in the county of East Lothian, 1505; died at Edinburgh, 1572. The publications of this successful promoter of the Reformation are as follow,—John Knoxe's Sermon against the Masse, 4th April, 1550, in presence of the Councell, &c. 16mo.—A Godly Letter sent too the fayethfull in London, Newcastell, Barwyke, and to all other within the Realme of England, that loue the cōminge of our Lorde Jesus. Rome, 1554, 8vo.—A Confession and Declaratiō of Praiers added ther-vnto by Jhon Knox, Minister of Christes most sacred Euangely, vpon the death of that moste verteous and most famous King Edward the VI., Kynge of England, y Fraunce, and Ireland; in whiche Confession, the sayde Jhon doth accuse no lesse hys owne offences, than the offences of others, to be the cause of the awaye-takinge of that moste godly Prince, now raininge with Christ, whyle we abyde plagues for our vnthākfulnesse. Rome, 1554, 8vo.—A faythfull Admonition made by John Knox, vnto the Professours of God's Truthe in England, whereby thou mayest lerne howe God wyll haue his Churche exercised with troubles, and how he defendeth it in the same. Esaie ix. After all this shall not the Lordes wrath cease, but yet shall hys hande be stretched out styll. Ibidem, Take hede that the Lorde roote thee not out bothe heade and tayle in one daye. Imprynted at Kalykow, 1554, 16mo.
z This place, Kalykow, seems to be fictitious, and it is very probable that Geneva is the place meant: at any rate it must have been printed abroad, and not in Scotland, as Knox durst not have printed it in this kingdom at that time.—The Copie of a Letter, sent to the Ladye Mary Dowagire, Regent of Scotland, by John Knox, in the year 1556. Here is also a notable Sermon, made by the sayde John Knox; wherein is euidentlye proued that the Masse is, and alwayes hath been, abhominable before God, and idolatrye. 1556, 8vo. New edition, nowe augmented and explaned by the Author, in the yeare of our Lord, 1558. Genev. 1558, 16mo.—The Appellation of John Knoxe, from the cruell and most iniust Sentence pronounced against him by the a false Bishoppes and Clergie of Scotland; with his Supplication and Exhortation to the Nobilitie, Estates, and Cōmunalitie of the same Realme. Genev. 1558, 16mo.—The First Blast of the Trumpet against the Monstruous Regiment of Women. 1558, 8vo. The principal motives to this publication were, the cruel and bloody government of Queen Mary of England, and the endeavours of Mary of Lorrain, Queen-Regent of Scotland, to break through the laws, and introduce tyrannical government. He intended favouring the world with a Second Blast, but Queen Mary dying, and Elizabeth (from whom he had great expectations,) ascending the throne, his design went no farther.—An Answer to a great nomber of blasphemous Cauilla-
b tions, written by an Anabaptist, and Aduersarie to God's eternall Predestination; and confuted by Iohn Knox, Minister of God's Word in Scotland. Wherein the Author discouereth the craft and falshode of that Sect, that the Godly, knowing that error, may be confirmed in the trueth by the euident Word of God. Genev. 1560, 16mo. Lond. 1591, 8vo.—A Sermon preached by John Knox, Minister of Christ Jesus, in the publique audience of the Church of Edenbrough, within the Realme of Scotland, vpon Sonday the 19 of August, 1565; for the which the said John Knox was inhibite preaching for a season. 1 Tim. iv. The time is come, that men cannot abyde the Sermon of veritie, nor holsome doctrine. To this is adioyned, c An Exhortation vnto all the faithfull within the sayde Realme, for the reliefe of such as faythfully trauayle in the preaching of God's Word. Written by the same John Knox, at the commandment of the Ministrie aforesaid. Without name of place or printer, 1566, 16mo. This was reprinted same year, with the title of, John Knoxe his Sermon on Esay (Isaiah) xxvi. 13-21.; preached, &c. 1566, 8vo.—The Form of Divine Service, commonly called Knox's Liturgy. At the end of this Liturgy, the compiler, and the time of its public approbation is thus mentioned: "This book is thought necessary and profitable for the Church, and commanded to be printed by the General Assembly. Set forth by John Knox, Minister; and sighted by d us, whose names follow, as we are appointed by the said General Assembly, 1567. John Willok, John Craig, Robert Pont, John Row, David Lindesay, Gulielmus Christisonus, James Craig, &c."—Johne Knox to his louing brethren, whome God ones gathered in the Church of Edinburgh, and now are dispersed for tryal of our faith, &c. Printed at Striuiling be Robert Lekpreuik, 1571, 8vo.—An Answer to a Letter of a Iesuit, named Tyrie, be Johne Knox. Prov. xxvi. (4, 5.) Answer not a foole according to his foolishnes, least thow be lyke him: answer a foole according to his foolishnes, least he be wise in his owne cōseat. The contrarietie appearing at the first sight betuix thir twa sentēcis, stayit for a tyme, baith heart to mee ditate, and hand to wryte any thing, cōtrair that blaspheamous Letter. But when, with better mynd, God gaue me to considder, that whoso euer opponis not him self bouldly to blasphemy and manifest leis, differis lytill fra tratouris, cloking and fostering, so far as in them ly, the treasoun of tratours, &c.; to quyet therefore my owne conscience, I put hand to the pen as followeth. Imprintit at Sanctandrois, be Robert Lekpreuik, 1572, 8vo. This Answer is introduced by an Address, which commences thus: "Iohne Knox, the seruand of Iesus Christ, now wearie of the world, and daylie luiking for the resolution of this my earthly tabernakle, to the faithfull, that God of his mercy sall appoint to feght after me," &c.; and in which he else-
f where says, "I haue added vnto this Preface a Meditatioun or Prayer, thrawin furth my sorrowful heart, and pronounced by my half dead toung, befoir I was compelled to leaue my flocke of Edinburg, who now ar dispersed," &c.—A Fort for the Afflicted; wherein are ministred, many notable and excellent Remedies againste the Stormes of Tribulation. s KOBURGER, or Coburger, Antony, a very celebrated Printer of the 15th century, who exercised his art at Nuremberg, where he died in 1513. The Works of his printing, which are all distinguished for the lustre and magnificence of their execution, relate chiefly to the Canon Law and to Theology: of 37 editions printed by him, 13 alone are of the Bible, viz. twelve in Latin, and one in German.—The Latin Bibles appeared successively, in 1475, 1477, 1478 (two editions), 1479, 1480, and 1481, with the Postils of Nicholas de Lyra, in 2 vols fol.; without the Postils, in 1482; again with them, in 1485, 1487, 1493, and 1497, 4 vols; and without Lyra, in 1502. But the most interesting of these Bibles is the German edition of t 1483, fol. which is said to be a masterpiece of typographical excellence.—Besides the above impressions of the Bible, the following Works may be mentioned. Boethius. 1473 and 1476.—Burley W. De Vita Philos. Without date, fol.—Honorius De Imagine Mundi. No date, fol.—Chronicon Nurembergense. Nuremb. 1493, fol. Editio princeps.—Cicero de Oratore. 1497.

LACTANTIUS, Lucius Cælius Firmianus, the most eloquent of the Latin Christian Fathers, flourished in the early part of the 4th century, y under Dioclesian and Constantine the Great: but of what country is unknown.——DIVIN. INSTIT. De Divinis Institutionibus, libri vii. Rome, printed by Ulric Han and Simon Nicolas de Luca, 1474, fol.—De Divin. Instit. Ven. printed by Andreas de Paltasichis and Boninus de Boninis, 1478, fol. Of this Treatise Lactantius made an Abridgement, of which there are the following editions,—Epitome Divinarum Institutionum, à Chr. Matt. Pfaffio. Par. 1702, 8vo. Et à Joan. Davisio. Cantabr. 1718, 8vo. A good edition.—In 1777, Sir David Dalrymple, Lord Hailes, published, with Notes, a correct edition of the fifth book, De Justitia, entitled, Divinarum Institutionum liber quintus, sive de Justitia, accu- z rante D. Dalrymple de Hailes, Esq. Edin. 1777, 12mo.——MORT. PERSEC. De Mortibus Persecutorum, (cum Scholiis Jo. Fell,)' à Joan. Columbo, accesserunt Passiones S. S. Perpetuæ et Felicitatis. Ultraj. 1692, 8vo. or 1693. —The English Translations of this Treatise are, The Relation of Lactantius of the Death of the Primitive Persecutors. Translated into English, by Gilbert Burnet, D. D. Lond. 1687, 1713, 8vo., and in the second volume of his Tracts. Lond. 1689, 12mo.—Of the manner in which the Persecutors died, a Treatise by L. C. F. Lactantius. Translated by Sir a David Dalrymple. Edin. 1782, 8vo. An excellent translation, containing useful Notes and Illustrations, and a Preface, which is a masterpiece of critical inquiry. Some seem inclined to deny that the above very valuable Work was written by Lactantius, but the learned Translator of this last edition, after examining with much acuteness the opinions of those who have treated of its authenticity, agrees with several other eminent Critics that it was written by Lactantius.—OPERA. Opera. Printed in the Monastery of Subiaco, by Sweynheim and Pannartz, 1465, fol. This interesting volume is the first edition of Lactantius, and is printed in a beautiful character. The Printers appear, however, at this time to have had but a very small b quantity of Greek types; for, in the first part of the Work, whenever a long Greek quotation occurred, a blank has been left that it might be inserted with a pen.—Opera, ex recensione Adami Genuensis. Rom. ap. Sweyn. et Pannartz, 1468, fol. This edition, although of less rarity than the preceding, is of greater intrinsic value, as many of the errors are corrected, and the deficiencies supplied that appeared in the editio princeps.—Opera, à Joan. Andr. Epis. Aleriensi. Rom. ap. Sweyn. et Pannartz, 1470, fol. This is more accurate than either of the two preceding impressions.—Opera. Ven. 1471, fol. Mr. Dibdin supposes Adam Montalus Genuensis to be the printer of this edition, but there is some difference of opinion on this subject.—Opera. Ven. printed by Vindelin Spira, 1472, fol. A very beautiful edition.—Opera. Rostoch. per Presbyteros et Clericos Domus c Viridis Horti, 1476, fol. A volume executed with great neatness and elegance.—Oper. ap. Joan. de Colon. 1478, fol.—Opera. LIVIUS, Titus Foro-Juliensis.—Vita Henrici V. Regis Angliæ, ex edit. Tho. Hearnii. Accedit Sylloge Epistolarum à Variis Angliæ Principibus scriptarum. Oxf. 1716. 8vo.

LIVIUS, Titus, the most distinguished of the Roman Historians, was j born at Padua; died A. D. 17, at the age of seventy or seventy-six. The History of Livy originally consisted of a hundred and forty-two books, of which only thirty-five are extant. The Epitomes of it all remain, except those of the 136th and 137th books. They have been divided into decades, but whether by Livy himself, or some more modern hand, is undetermined. ——HISTORIA ROMANA.—Brit. Edit. Hist. Rom. quibus adjuncta est Chronologia Nova accommodata ad Tabulas Capitolinas Verii Flacci, Annotationibus Utilissimis, varietatem seu Dissentionem Authorum circa Consulum Romanorum Nomina demonstrata, illustrata. Cum Indice cuique parti separatim adjuncto. Lond. 1589, 8vo. Very neatly printed. k —Hist. Rom. Cantab. 1679, 2 vols. 8vo. Et Lond. 1702, 2 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Rom. à Thoma Hearne. Oxon. 1708, 6 vols. 8vo. A very correct edition. The Text is from Gronovius, and the edition is compiled from the collation of many MSS., containing various readings subjoined to each page.—Hist. Rom. Lond. 1722, 6 vols. 12mo. A good edition, containing a copious and excellent Index.—Hist. Rom. ex Freinshemio, Crevierio, Sigonio, et aliis. Lond. 1749, 7 vols. 12mo.—Hist. Rom. cum Notis Crevierii. Lond. 1750, 6 vols. 12mo.—Hist. Rom. à Thoma Ruddimanno. Edinb. 1751-53, 4 vols. 12mo. Of this edition Dr. Harwood speaks in the following very flattering terms: "I have within these three years, had l occasion to read this edition of Livy twice through, and I cheerfully pass this sentence upon it, that it is one of the most accurate editions of Livy ever published. Edinburgh has as much reason to triumph in the immaculate purity of this edition of Livy, as Glasgow has to boast of the spotless perfection of the edition of Horace published in 1744." There are also editions printed at Edinburgh in 1764 and 1772, 12mo., but they are both incorrect, and greatly inferior to the impression of 1751, which owes its reputation to the typographical skill and erudition of Ruddiman.—Hist. Rom. à Homero. Lond. 1794, 8 vols. 8vo. A very correct and beautiful edition, with a singularly useful Index.—Hist. Rom. ex recensione Dra- m kenborchii. Oxon. 1800, 6 vols. 8vo. This is also an impression of much accuracy and elegance.—Eng. Trans. The Historie of two the most noble Captaines of the Worlde, Anniball and Scipio, of theyr dyvers Battailes and Victories, excedyng profitable to reade; gathered and translated into Englishe, out of Titus Livius, and other Authores, by Antonye Cope, Esquier. Prefixed to his Translation of the three Orations of Demosthenes in favour of the Olynthians.—The Roman History, written in Latin, n by Titus Livius, and translated by Philemon Holland. Lond. 1600, fol. Reprinted, 1659, fol.; and with the Supplements of Freinsheim and Dujatius, with cuts. Lond. 1686. fol. The merits of this translation are not decided, but Dr. Holland was as well qualified for the task he undertook as most persons of his age.—A new and accurate Translation of the Roman History of Titus Livius, with the entire Supplement of John Freinsheim, made by several hands, and illustrated with Geographical and Chronological Notes. Glasg. 1783, 2 vols. 12mo.—The His- o tory of Rome, by T. Livius. Translated from the original, with Notes and Illustrations, by Geo. Baker, A.M. Lond. 1797, 6 vols. 8vo. A Translation executed with general fidelity and perspicuity.—For. Edit. Hist. Rom. ex recens. Joan. Andr. Episc. Aler. Rome, printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz, and supposed to have been executed in 1469, 2 vols. fol.

Editio princeps. The question respecting the chronological priority of the early editions of Livy has occasioned a considerable degree of discussion among Bibliographers. The present impression has, however, found an able advocate in Audiffredi, who, by a series of facts, satisfactorily demonstrates its precedency to all others. The volumes themselves present one of the p most magnificent specimens of ancient classical typography.—Hist. Rom. Venice, printed by Vindelin de Spira, 1470, 2 vols. fol. This appears to be the editio secunda, and is a most splendid production of the early Venetian press.—Hist. Rom. Rome, printed by Ulric Han, without date, 2 vols. folio. This has been placed by some as the editio princeps, but the Editor, (Campanus) in his introductory Address, talks of the erroneous impressions of his Author, which evidently shows that this was not the first. In point of splendour, however, it is perhaps superior to either of the preceding, and may be called the master-piece of Ulric Han's press.—Hist. Rom. Rome, printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz. Rome, 1472, 2 vols. fol. This is q a reprint of the preceding.—Hist. Rom. Milan., printed by Philip Lavagnia, 1478, fol. A very beautiful edition.—Hist. Rom. à Petro Justino Philelpho. Med. ap. Zarot. 1480, fol., rare.—Hist. Rom. Tarvis. ap. Mich. Manzol. 1480, fol.—Hist. Rom. ex recens. Lucæ Porri. Trev. 1482 et 1485, fol. Printed by Joannes Vercellensis.—Hist. Rom. à M. Ant. Sabellico. Franc. 1608, fol. et 1619, t 8vo. Par. 1625, fol.—Hist. Rom. à Dan. Heinsio. Lugd. Bat. ap. Elzev. 1634, 3 vols. 12mo.—Hist. Rom. à Jo. Frid. Gronovio. Lugd. Bat. ap. Elz. 1644-45, et 1654, 3 vols. 12mo. Lugd. Bat. 1679, 3 vols. 8vo. These are all excellent editions, but the latter is generally esteemed the best.—Hist. Rom. Amst. ap. Elzev. 1678 et 1679, 12mo. Printed in an extremely small character.—Hist. Rom. à Joan. Doujatio in usum Delphini. Par. 1679-82, 5 or 6 vols. 4to.—Hist. Rom. à Jacobo Giacometto. Patav. 1694, 5 vols. 12mo. A very good edition.—Hist. Rom. à Joan. Clerico. Amst. et Traj. ad Rhen. 1710, 10 vols. 8vo. An inaccurate edition.—Hist. Rom. curante Carolo Bonarrigo. Ven. 1715, &c. u 6 vols. 4to. A well edited re-impression of that in usum Delphini.—Hist. Rom. ex edit. Jo. Clerici, à Joan. Matth. Gesnero. Lips. 1735 et 1755, 3 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Rom. à Jo. Bap. Crevier. Par. 1735-42, 6 vols. 4to. A valuable edition, containing a good Life of the Historian, and a judicious selection of the best remarks on his Works.—Hist. Rom. ab Arn. Drakenborchio. Amst. 1738-46, 7 vols. 4to. This is superior to all preceding editions. It is a truly critical production, but the Notes which it contains are perhaps too numerous and prolix.—Hist. Rom. Bas. 1749, 3 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Rom. ab Aug. Guil. Ernesto. Lips. 1769, 3 vols. 8vo. Ejusdem. Lips. 1801-4, 5 vols. 8vo. The latter of these impressions is v the best. The first is on bad paper.—Hist. Rom. à J. N. Lallemand. Par. 1775-76, 7 vols. 12mo. A beautiful and valuable edition.—Hist. Rom. à F. A. Stroth. Gothæ, 1783, 3 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Rom. Bipont. 1784-87, 13 vols. 8vo. most interesting volumes of ancient classical literature. Some suppose it to have been printed at the Junta press, and that Philostratus superintended its publication, but neither of these opinions seem to be well founded: the truth is, the printer is utterly unknown.—Opera, Gr. Ven. ap. Ald. 1503 et 1522, fol. The latter of these impressions is the best.—Opera, Gr. Hagen. 1526 et 1532, 2 vols. 8vo. Good editions.—Opera, ab Antonio Francino, n Gr. Ven. ap. With a copious Index.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Bas. 1563, 1602, 1619, 4 vols. 8vo.—Opera, à Joan. Bourdelotio, Gr. et Lat. Par. 1615, fol. This is an elegant edition, and contains the Notes and Observations of Mycillus, Guerinus, Marcilius, and Cognatus, besides those of the Editor himself.—Opera, à Joan. Benedicto, Gr. et Lat. Salmur. 1619, 2 vols. 8vo. A very excellent edition.—Opera, cum Not. var. à Joan. Georgio Grævio, Gr. et Lat. Amst. 1687, 2 vols. 8vo. This is called the variorum edition: the o opinions of its merit are various.—Opera, à Jo. Frid. Reitzio, &c. Gr. Lat. Amst. 1743-46, 4 vols. 4to. In point of elegance, accuracy, and copiousness, this edition greatly surpasses all that has yet appeared. The Editors were Hemsterhusius, J. M. Gesner, and Reitzius.—Opera, à Jo. Pet. Schmidio, Gr. et Lat. Mitav. 1776-80, 8 vols. 8vo. This contains the text of the preceding, with the Notes abridged.—Opera, Gr. Lat. Bipont. 1789-93, 10 vols. 8vo. A good edition, neatly printed, with the Notes at the end of each volume.—Eng. Trans. The partial versions of Lucian have been already noticed. Those titles which promise translations of his whole Works are,—Lucian's Dialogues and Orations. 1604, fol.—Lucian's Works, p translated by Ferrand Spence. Lond. 1684, 4 vols. 8vo.—The Works of Lucian, translated from the Greek by several eminent hands; with the Life of Lucian, written by J. Dryden, Esq. Lond. 1711 and 1745, 4 vols. 8vo. —Translations from Lucian, by Walter Moyle, Esq. Lond. 1710, 4to. These preserve all the wit of the original.—The Works of Lucian, from the Greek, by Thos. Franklin, D. D., Greek Professor in the University of Cambridge. Lond. 1780, 2 vols. 4to. 2d edition. Lond. 1781-82, 4 vols. 8vo. Several of the pieces of Lucian are in this version omitted. Those, however, which are translated, do justice to the elegance and humour of the original, while they present none of these conceits with which most of the q Translators of Lucian have endeavoured to embellish their Author.

LUCRETIUS, Titus Carus, a Roman Poet and Philosopher, was born about 96 years before Christ; died in the 42d year of his age. As a Poet, Lu- u cretius' merits have procured him in all ages the warmest admirers, but as a Philosopher, he betrays his mental powers, by controverting those fundamentals in every system of religious faith, the existence of a First Cause, and the regulation of a Providence. The whole of his tenets are explained and elucidated in his celebrated Poem,——DE NATURA RERUM.—Brit. Edit. De Natura Rerum ex edit. Tanaq. Fabr. Cantab. 1675 et 1686, 12mo.— Nat. Rer. à Thoma Creech. Oxon. 1695, 8vo. The taste and fondness of Thomas Creech for the Epicurean Philosophy rendered him particularly fitted for the illustration of this poet, and he has here succeeded by favouring the world with an edition displaying much erudition and correctness.— v Nat. Rer. ex edit. Sam. Garthii. Lond. 1709, 4to. Et Lond. 1712, fol. et 4to. Sumptuous and accurate editions, ornamented with valuable plates. —Nat. Rer. à Mich. Maittaire. Lond. 1713, 12mo. A correct edition.— Nat. Rer. ex recens. Th. Creech. Lond. 1716, 8vo. Very incorrect. Et Glasg. ap. Foulis, 1749 et 1759, 8vo. Lond. 1754, 8vo. without Creech's notes. The Glasgow impression of 1759 is very beautiful and correct.—Nat. Rer. Lond. 1749, 12mo. with plates, neatly printed.— Nat. Rer. Birming. ap. Baskerville, 1772, 4to. Et 1773, 12mo. These impressions are only remarkable for typographical beauty.—Nat. Rer. à Wakefield. Lond. 1796, 3 vols. 4to. A very splendid and critical edition. w It is exceedingly rare, as the greater part of the impression was consumed by the fire which destroyed the premises of Mr. Hamilton, the printer.— Nat. Lucretius Carus, on the Nature of Things, in English verse, with the Latin text. Lond. 1799, 8vo. A poor performance.—The Nature of Things; a Didactic Poem. Translated from the Latin of Titus Lucretius Carus, accompanied with the original text, and illustrated with Notes, philological and explanatory, by J. Mason Good. Lond. 1805, 2 vols. 4to. This is the best English version of Lu- z cretius hitherto made. The notes contain a vast variety of miscellaneous literature.——For. Edit. Nat. Rer. Brixiæ ap. Ferandus, without date, but probably not later than 1473, fol. editio princeps. This uncommon volume is so exceedingly scarce, that it was long unknown to the classical world. It consists of 106 leaves, unskilfully printed with a middle-size Roman letter, and is said to contain valuable readings. There is a copy of it in Lord Spencer's library, which is the only one known to exist in Britain. —Nat. Rer. Veron. ap. Paul. Fridenperger, 1486, fol. Since the discovery of the preceding edition, this has sunk greatly in price and estimation. It is far from being correct.—Nat Rer. Mediol. ap. Scinzenzeler. a 1491, fol.—Nat. Rer. à C. Lycinio. Ven. ap. Theod. de Ragazzonibus, 1495, 4to. This is a mere reprint of the inaccurate impression of 1486.—Nat. Rer. à Hieron. Avantio. Ven. ap. Ald. 1500, 4to. An edition of much rarity and beauty, but very incorrect. Et Ven. ap. Theod. de Ragazzonibus de Asula, 1500, fol.—Nat. Rer. à Jo. Bap. Pio. Bonon. 1511, fol. A valuable edition, reprinted by Ascensius in 1514.—Nat. Rer. à Pet. Candido. Flor. ap. Junt. 1512, 8vo.—Nat. Rer. ex recens. Andreæ Naugerii. Ven. ap. Ald. 1515, 8vo. An accurate edition, greatly preferable to the first Aldine one, in critical utility.—Nat. Rer. Lugd. ap. Gryph. 1536, 1540, 1546, 1558, 1564, 8vo. Et 1576, 12mo. Lovan. b 1542, 4to. Ven. ap. Ald. 1550, 8vo.—Nat. Rer. à Dionysio Lambino. Par. 1563, 1570, 4to. Par. 1565. Franc. 1583, 8vo. These are good editions, and contain the erudite, but perhaps too prolix Commentaries of the celebrated Lambinus.—Nat. Rer. ab Oberto Giphanio. Ant. ap. Plant. 1565-66. Lugd. Bat. 1595, 8vo. Arms, under James V., an ancient Scottish Poet of great popularity, was born in Haddingtonshire, 1490; is supposed to have died about 1557.—The m Complaynt of the Kingis Papingo. Lond. by Byde, 1538. Heir followis the Testament and Complaynt of our Souuerane Lordis Papingo. Paris, 1558, 4to. With this is bound, The Dreme, &c. St. Andr. by John Skott, 1559. A distinct tract.—The Tragical Death of David Beaton, Bishoppe of St. Andrewes, in Scotland; whereunto is ioyned, the Martyrdom of Maister George Wyscharte, for whose sake the aforesayed Bishoppe was not longe after slayne. Lond. 1546, 8vo. Reprinted by Jhone Skott, 1559.—Ane Dialog betwix Experience and ane Courtiour, off the Miserabyll Estait of the Warld; compylit be Schir Dauid Lyndesay, of ye Mont, Knycht, alias Lyone Kyng of Armes; and n is deuidet in foure partis, as efter followis, &c.; and imprentit at the command and expensis off Doctor Machabeus, in Copmāhouin, 1552, 4to. Black lett. Mr. G. Chalmers, in his edition of this Poet's works, demonstrates, by a series of conclusive facts, that this first edition was not printed at Copenhagen, as the title specifies, but at St. Andrews, by John Scott; and that the correct date is 1554. The volume may therefore be considered as an elegant specimen of early printing in Scotland.—A Dialogue betweene Experience and a Courtier, of the Miserable Estate of the Worlde; first compiled in the Schottishe tongue, by Sir Dauid Lyndsey, Knight, (a man of great learning and science); nowe newly corrected, and made perfit o Englishe, pleasaunt and profitable for al estates; but chiefly for gentlemen, and suche as are in authoritie. Hereunto are annexed, certaine other pithy posys of Woorkes, inuented by the said Knight, as shal largely appeare in the table after following. Black let. Lond. 1566, 4to. Another edit. of the above. Lond. 1575, 4to. And again. p tuperation of vyce. Edin. by Rob. Charteris, 1602, 4to. It was again reprinted in 1604; but the second edit. is not so good as the first.—Supplication agains Syde Taillis. 1690. Printed singly on two folio pages.—The first attempt towards a Collection of Lyndsay's Poems, was made by Jascuy, in 1558; who, in the same year, printed two impressions, the one in 4to. and the other in 12mo.; which, according to Pitscottie, was ordained by the Scotican Church to be burnt. John Skott, however, printed an edit. of Lyndsay's Poetical Works, in 1559, wherein he complains of the two former editions of Jascuy. They were again reprinted in 1566.—The Works of Lyndsay; compyled in Scottish tung, first turnit and made perfit Eng-q lishe, pleasant and profitable for all estates, was published by Purefoot, in 1566, 1575, and 1581.—The Warkis of the famous and vorthie Knicht, Schir David Lyndesay, of the Mont, alias Lyoun King of Armes; newely correctit and vindicate from the former errouris, quhair with war befoir corruptit, and augmentit with sindrie Warkis, quhilk was not before emprented; the contentis of the Buke, and quhat Warkis are augmentit, the nixt syde sall schaw. The contentis of this Buke following: Ane Dialoge betwix Father Experiance and ane Courtiour, of the Miserabill Estait of the World, deuydit in four bukis, or in fouir Monarchies; the Testament and Complaynt of our Souerane Lordis Papingo, King James the Fift; the s Kingis Grace, in contemptioun of Syde Taillis and Missellit Facis; Kitteis Confessioun; the Iusting betwix James Watsone and Johne Barbour, familiar Servitours to Kyng James the Fyft. Newely imprintit, by Jhon Scot, at the expensis of Hen. Charteris. Edin. 1568, 4to.—The Varkis of ye famous and vorthie Knight, Schir David Lyndesay of ye Mont, &c. Edin. 1571, 4to.—The Warkis of the famous and worthie Schir Dauid Lyndesay, of the Mont, alias Lyoun King of Armes; newely correctit and vindicate from the former errouris quhairwith thay war befoir curruptit; and augmentit with sundrie Warkis quhilk was not befoir imprentit. The contentis of the buik, and quhat Warkis ar augmentit, the nixt syde sall t schaw. Imprentit at Edin. by Tho. Bassandyne, 1574, 4to. Not so correct as the edit. of 1568.—The Varkis of the famous and worthie Knight, Syr David Lindesay, at the command of King James the Fift. Edin. Charteris, 1588, 4to. The same now augmentit, with the Historie of Squyer William Meldrum, of the Bynnis; neuer befoir imprentit. Edin. be Hen. Charteris, 1592, 4to. Again, Edin. 1597. This is the last and most corrupt edition of Lindsay's labours which was edited by Hen. Charteris.—The Works of Lyndsay; containing the same pieces as the edit. of 1597, were printed at Edin. by Rob. Charteris, 1604.—An edition of Lyndsay's Works were printed at Edin. for Thomas Finlayson. The Historie of Squyer Meldrum was likewise printed in 1610, for Richard Lawson, and u appended to this edition, yet formed no part of the work.—Works. Edin. 1614, 12mo.—Works. Glasg. 1696, 12mo.—The Poetical Works of Sir David Lyndsay, of the Mount, Lion King at Arms, under James V. MACURE, or Campbell, John, Clerk to the Registration of Seisines g and other Evidents for the City of Glasgow.—View of the City of Glasgow; or, an Account of its Origin, Rise, and Progress: with a more particular Description thereof than has hitherto been known; collected from many ancient Records, Charters, and other ancient Vouchers, and from the best Historians and private MSS. Glasg. 1736, 12mo. This contains, no doubt, some useful information, but can be little trusted to by the impartial Historian. The Author's love for the place of his nativity leads him into several ridiculous descriptions; and the importance and beauty he bestows on the City of Glasgow are the more surprising, when it is considered, that in his time, it scarcely deserved that title.

A Work of great research, and often consulted by typographical antiquaries.—Œuvres de Villon. Hague, 1742, 8vo. Supplement, by Mercier. 1775, 2 vols. 4to. This is thought to be equal to Marchand's Work, and certainly is more correct, his being deficient in arrangement.—Lettres Mémoires et Negociations du Comte d'Estrades. Lond. (Hague), 1743, 9 vols. 12mo.—Fenelon's Direction pour la Conscience d'un Roi. Hague, 1747, 8vo. 1747, 12mo.—Histoire de Fenelon. Hague, 1747, 12mo.—Bayle's Dictionary and Letters; illustrated v with Notes-chef-d'œuvre d'un inconnu.—Dictionnaire Historique, ou Mémoires Critiques et Litteraires concernant la Vie et les Ouvrages de divers Personnages distingués, particulièrement dans la Republique des Lettres, &c. An Historical Dictionary, or Memoirs Critical and Literary, relating to the Lives and Works of several distinguished Persons, particularly in the Republic of Letters. La Haye, 1758-9, 2 vols. fol. This is a most useful Work. The articles are partly biographical and partly historical: the Author's accuracy is in general precise, and there are few volumes that afford more satisfaction or information on the subjects introduced. In the original MS. this Work was all written upon little pieces of paper of different sizes, w some not bigger than one's thumb nail, and written in a character so exceeding small that it was not legible to the naked eye. It has been said this was the first book printed by the help of a microscope.

MARCHAND, Stephen.—Voyage autour du Monde, &c. Voyage round the World during the years 1790-1 and 2; preceded by an Historical Introduction; Inquiries concerning the Discoveries of Sir Francis Drake; and a Critical Examination of the Voyage of Roggeween. MARLIANUS.—Galliæ Descriptio. Annexed to Cæsar's Commentaries, by Robert Stephens. Par. 1544.

MARLOE, or Marlow, Christopher, one of the most distinguished Dramatic Poets of his age, and whom Phillips calls a kind of second Shakespeare, was born about 1562; died about 1593.—Translation of Coluthus z Rape of Helen, into English rhyme. Lond. 1587.—The Tragedy of Dido Queen of Carthage. In the composition of this he was assisted by Thomas Nash, who published it in 1594.—Translation of the Loves of Hero and Leander. This was left unfinished by Marlow's death, but what is called a second part, which is nothing more than a continuation from the Italian, appeared by one Henry Petowe, in 1598. Another edition was published with the first book of Lucan; translated also by Marlow, and in blank verse, in 1600. It was completed by Chapman, the Translator of Homer. Lond. 1606. Lond. 1637, 4to.—Tamburlaine the Great; who, from a Scythian Shepherd, by his rare and wonderfull Conquestes became a most puissant a and mightie Monarch, and for his tyrannie and terrour in war was tearmed, The Scourge of God: The first part of the two Tragicall Discourses, as they were sundrie times most stately shewed upon stages in the citie of London, by the Right Hon. the Lord Admirall his servantes. Lond. 1590.—Translation of the Elegies of Ovid; 3 bookes. Lond. without date, but about 1598, 8vo.—The troublesome Raigne and lamentable Death of Edward the Second, King of England; with the tragical fall of proud Mortimer: and also the Life and Death of Peirs Gaveston, the great Earle of Cornewall, and mightie favorite of Edward the Second; as it was pub-

MARSOLLIER, James, a French Historian of some note, was born at Paris, 1647: died 1724. There are extant by him,—A History of Tenths and other temporal Goods of the Church. Par. 1689, 12mo. This h is a scarce and curious Work.—A History of Cardinal Zimenes. 1693, 2 vols. 12mo. Par. 1704, 1739, 2 vols. 8vo. Frequently reprinted.—The History of the Inquisition, and its Origin. 1693, 12mo. A curious and bold Work.—A History of Henry VII. King of England. Par. 1697, 2 tom. 8vo. Par. 1724, 2 tom. 12mo. 1727, 2 vols. 12mo. Some consider this as the masterpiece of the Author.—The Life of Dom. Rancé, Abbé and Reformer of La Trappe. 1703, 2 vols. 12mo. Some objections have been made to the veracity of this History. It is preferred, however, to Mapeou's Life of Rancé.—Dialogues on many Duties of Life. 1715, 12mo.—Life of St. Francis de Sales. Par. 1711, 2 vols. 12mo.—The i Life of Madame de Chantal. 2 vols. 12mo.—The History of Henry de la Tour d'Auvergne, Duke of Bouillon. Par. 1719, 4to. or 3 vols. 12mo. Not much esteemed.—An Apology for Erasmus. Par. 1719, 1720, 12mo. In this he undertakes to prove Erasmus' Catholic Orthodoxy from passages in his Works.

Translated from Father Paul. 1751.—Le Rabelais Moderne; or, The Works of Rabelais made intelligible to Readers in general. 1752, 8 vols. 12mo. In this some of the obscurities are removed, but all that is offensive to decency is left.—Analysis of Bayle.
n 1754, 4 vols. 12mo. Lond. 1755, 8 vols. 12mo. Analyse Raisonnée du Bayle, &c. A Methodical Abridgement of Bayle's Works, particularly his Historical and Critical Dictionary. Paris, 1770, 8 vols. 12mo.—Abridged Dictionary of Painting and Architecture. 2 vols. 12mo.—The Modern History; intended to serve as a continuation of Rollin's Ancient History. 26 vols. 12mo. This is written with regularity, but little elegance. It has since been continued by Richer with less order, but more profundity of research, especially respecting America and Russia.—Pictura. 1756, 12mo. This Poem is not considered so learned and instructive in the art as that of Du Fresnoy; but he has shewn himself a more pure and original o Latin Poet.

MARTEK.—Concordance to the Bible. Bl. letter, printed by Grafton. 1550, fol.

MARTEL, Mons. de, of Montauban.—Extract of a Letter, concerning a way for the Prolongation of Human Life; together with some Observations made in the southern parts of France. Phil. Trans. Abr. i. 433. 1670.

lish, by Wm. Hay, Esq. Lond. 1755, 12mo. and in 8vo. with the English
d only. This Translation is in general good, and the spirit and turn of Martial are well preserved.—Epigrams from Martial, in the Collection of Poems by several hands. Lond. 1763, vol. v. 12mo.—Martial's Epigrams, and Cato's Distichs, translated into English, by Mr. Wright. Lond. 1763, 12mo.—Epigrams from Martial, with Mottos from Horace, translated, m imitated, adapted, and addressed to the Nobility, Clergy, and Gentry. With Notes, moral, historical, explanatory, and humorous. Lond. 1773, 12mo. Attributed to the Rev. W. Scott, M. A.—Translations from Martial, by Sir Rogers, A.M., in his Poems on various occasions. Lond. 1782, 2 vols. 12mo.—The Epigrams of M. Val. Martial, in twelve books; with a e Comment by James Elphinston. Lond. 1782, 4to. These three last are indifferent performances.—For. Edit. Epigr. Ferrar. 1471, 4to. This is supposed to have been printed by Andreas Gallus, and is remarkable for its rarity. It is only a partial impression of Martial's Works, the Liber Spectaculorum being wanting. The several editions of Martial, without date, in the 15th century, has rendered it difficult to decide upon their chronological priority. The present, however, Mr. Dibdin considers to be the editio princeps; at any rate, anterior to that by Vindelin de Spira, which was generally thought to precede it.—Epigr. ex Emendatione Georgii Merulæ. Venet. ap. Vind. de Spira, absque loci et anni indicio. 4to. This rare
f volume was probably executed in the year 1472, although many have assigned it to the year 1470.—Epigr. Without name of printer, place, or date, 4to. This impression surpasses the two preceding in rarity, and perhaps in antiquity. The typography resembles the productions of Ulric Han's press.—Epigr. Rom. ap. Sweyn. et Pannartz. 1473, fol. An uncommon and valuable edition.—Epigr. à Domit. Calderino. Rom. ap. Gensberg. 1474, fol. The first impression of the Commentaries of Calderinus, and a rare and estimable production. Reprinted at Venice to more advantage, by J. de Colonia. 1474, fol.—Epigr. ex edit. Merulæ. Ven. ap. Joan. de Colonia, 1475, fol. Reprinted in a neat Roman character, without date, g place, or name of printer, 4to. Et ex eadem edit. Mediol. ap. Phil. de Lavagnia, 1478, fol.—Epigr. Without place or date, 4to. This is executed in a small Gothic type; and was perhaps printed by John de Westphalia.—Epigr. à Dom. Calderino. Acced. Defensio cum Recriminatio ad Calumniatorem. Ven. 1480, fol.—Epigr. cum Calderini Comment. Ven. ap. Tho. Alexandrinus et Socii. 1482, fol. Et Ven. ap. Baptista de Tortis, 1482, et 1485, fol. Et Mediol. ap. Schinzinzeler, 1483, fol.—Epigr. cum Commentariis Calderini ac Georgii Merulæ. Ven. ap. Phil. Pincium de Caneto, 1491, fol. These Commentaries surround the text of the Poet.—Epigr. cum Petri Marsi Comment. Ven. ap. Bonetum Locah tellum, 1492, fol.—Epigr. cum Calderini et Merulæ Comment. Ven. ap. Barth. de Zanis de Portesio, 1493, fol.—Epigr. cum Comment. Varior. Ven. ap. Bevilacqua, 1498, fol.—Epigr. Ven. ap. Ald. 1501 et 1517, 8vo. The first of these editions is highly valued, particularly the copies on vellum, of which a few were struck off. Some Bibliographers cite Aldine impressions of 1510 and 1512, but they are only imaginary.—Epigr. 1512, 8vo. Without place, or name of printer, but apparently from the press of the Juntas.—Epigr. Par. ap. Colin. 1528, 1539, 1540, et 1544, 8vo. The edition of 1528 is said to be rare and elegant.—Epigr. Lugd. Bat. ap. Gryph. 1535, 1546, 8vo. 1550, 1554, 12mo. et Ant. 1584, 8vo.—Epigr.
i à Jac. Mycillo. Bas. 1539, 8vo.—Epigr. Par. 1554, 4to. A valuable edition.—Epigr. ab Andr. Frusio, Soc. Jesu. Rom. 1558, 8vo. A scarce edition, from which all the indelicacies with which Martial so often offends, are expunged.—Epigr. ab Hadr. Junio. Ant. ap. Plant. 1566, 1568 et 1579, 16mo.—Epigr. à Theodoro Marcilio. Par. 1584, 8vo.—Epigr. à Josepho Langio. Argent. 1595, 2 vols. 16mo.—Epigr. à Jano Grutero. Franc. 1596 et 1602, 12mo.—Epigr. à Desid. Heraldo, et Nic. Rigaltio. Par. 1601, 4to.—Epigr. à Matthæo Radero. Mogunt. 1602, 1611, et 1627, fol. Of these editions, the last is the best.—Epigr. cum Comment. Laur. Ramirez de Prado, et Indice Jos. Langii. Par. 1607, 4to. A good j edition.—Epigr. ex edit. Ramirez de Prado. Par. 1616, 16mo. Scarce. —Epigr. cum Comment. Var. et Indice Jos. Langii. Par. 1617, fol. To this is annexed, the Greek Translation of the Select Epigrams of Martial, by Joseph Scaliger: by some it has been reckoned the best edition.—Epigr. à Pet. Scriverio. Lugd. Bat. 1619, 12mo. This valuable edition contains, besides the Notes of Scriverius, those of Scaliger, Brodæus, Turnebus, Politian, Lipsius, Rutsgersius, and Pontanus.—Epigr. Amst. ap. Elzev. 1650, 12mo.—Epigr. cum Not. Var. à Corn. Schrevelio. Lugd. Bat. 1656, 1661, et 1670, 8vo.—Epigr. à Vinc. Collessone, in usum Delphini. Par. 1680, 4to. Reprinted. Lond. 1701, et 1720, 8vo.—Epigr. à Smidsio.
k Amst. 1701, 8vo. A valuable edition, ornamented with beautiful plates.—Epigr. à T. Fitzgerald. Par. 1754, 2 vols. 12mo.—Epigr. Manheim. 1782, 2 vols. 8vo.—Epigr. Bipont. 1784, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is formed on Scriverius', corrected by Schrevelius, and collated with those of Raderus and Farnabus.—Epigr. à C. A. Bœttigero. Lips. 1790, &c. 3 vols. 8vo.

MARTIANAY, John, a French Benedictine Monk, was born in Gascony, 1647; died 1717.—He published the Works of St. Jerome. Par. 1693-1706, 5 vols. fol.—Remarques sur la Version Italique de l'Evangile de St. Mathieu. Par. 1695, 8vo.
